

Anything to do with NeoLife is my happy space, admits MELISSA BUTLER, SAPPHIRE DIRECTOR from Port Elizabeth. This Business has taught me to believe in myself and has enabled me to live a life that many women believe to be out of reach, or an impossibility these days. Melissa joined the Business years ago when she realised that her full-time job wasn't giving her the ability to have choices in her life. I also really wanted to do something that was making a difference in other people's lives.

Fast forward to 2019 and her children have grown up in a house with no chemicals, they're going through their teenage years with blemish-free skin thanks to the Nutriance Organic range, and one of Melissa's greatest dreams has come true. I've always wanted to be able to afford to keep a horse again, and now I am so blessed to have my own beautiful horse and one for each of my two daughters! The Butlers live on a beautiful smallholding near the coast and Melissa and her husband Brad enjoy regular morning walks along the beach. This Business has enabled us to live a far more balanced, healthy lifestyle than we could have ever dreamed of.

Melissa says that there are many things she appreciates about the NeoLife Business, but the most important one is that it has given her peace of mind and an excitement for the future. I love the fact that as my business grows, I am empowering and changing lives along the way. This is not only about me, it's about giving hope to others. She admits that she would not be in the Business today if it were not for Charlie and Alta Bolton. The Boltons, through the Eagle Team structure, instilled a consistent work ethic from the beginning. Charlie and Alta have always been approachable, supportive and have always made me believe that I can do it! Charlie has always popped up when I needed him most, and reminded me to believe in myself, even when times have been tough. For that, I am truly grateful.

She adds that the Boltons have taught her and her team that personal development is vital to building a successful Business and that hard work, consistency and a genuine love for people is a necessity. Through the personal development and training, I truly believe that I am a completely different person.

Melissa still has big dreams bigger ones if that's at all possible. My goal is Presidents Team, but this Business is so much a part of our lives that there is no end goal. My passion and mission is to build a huge network marketing business, to give other women hope and the ability to be brave enough to take that first step in following their dreams.

She firmly believes that if you believe in yourself and commit to doing whatever it takes, then you can change your life and make a significant difference to the world around you. I believe that you owe it your team to be successful in your Business. Picture yourself as the person you want to be, study that person and start seeing yourself as the person you aspire to be.

Melissa and her family enjoy the time they get to spend together.
